

QUEEN - CITY - LAW

Barristers & Solicitors

John Jon Senior Associate

John Jon is the Senior Associate at Queen City Law. He began working at the firm in 2007.

John was born in Bangkok (Thailand) and lived in Saudi Arabia for more than ten years. He then moved to New Zealand and graduated from the University of Auckland with a Bachelor of Law and a Bachelor of Commerce (International Business). John is bilingual, fluent in both English and Korean. John possesses a great passion for soccer and enjoys playing basketball, baseball and golf. His interest in his hobbies illustrates his openness towards sports in general due to the excitement, competitiveness and team work such games invoke.

John is also involved in the community as a captain of a local Korean soccer team in Auckland.

John has always had a business flair as well as a legal mindset demonstrated by his young leadership role as a director of a company which imported electronic goods since 2003. John believes that this direct business experience makes him better prepared to assist clients reach their commercial objective rather than getting bogged down in legalistic matters.

John is a highly motivated person with a "can-do" attitude. John has an ability to couple traditional approaches to tackling problems and apply innovative and novel methods in order to reach a successful result for his clients. John is hard working and has efficient time management skills.

His main goal is to become a "good lawyer" by working closely with his clients to ultimately fulfil their needs in order to obtain the optimum result and maximum satisfaction for all involved.
